	2019–20 Appeal for On-Time Status  Students who file a EAESA or DPEAM Act application after the March 2 priority filing deadline and/or submit requested Students who file a FAFSA or DREAM Act application after the March 2 priority filing deadline and/or submit requested information after deadlines specified by the Financial Aid and Scholarship Office may have limited eligibility for some financial															al aid	aid programs including university grants and work-study. Students with extenuating circumstances that prevented them from															n meeting financial aid deadlines may file an on-time status appeal. All appeals are subject to the availability of funding and may only be considered the first time an applicant fails to meet a deadline. Please note that lack of knowledge of published deadlines															- and application procedures is not considered an extenuating circumstance or situation beyond a student's control that would warrant an appeal for on-time status.  Explain in detail the extenuating circumstance(s) making this appeal necessary. You may also attach supporting documentation.
